

Hi there,

It's summertime, and things are heating up here at OnSite-Physio. We've got lots of things in the pipeline that we'll be announcing soon!

One thing we can tell you now, we're partnering with industry veteran Michael Coupland and his team at Integrated Medical Case Solutions to provide a unique service that combines physical therapy with cognitive behavioral therapy (CBT), proven as one of the most effective treatments for injured workers with delayed recoveries. A psychologist and one of our therapists see the patient for individual face-to-face sessions as well as joint sessions with the injured worker. The physical therapist and psychologist work in conjunction to develop an individualized PT-CBT treatment plan, for optimal outcomes.

Conference Updates

We're heading to Orlando for the 72nd Annual Workers' Compensation Educational Conference and 29th Annual Safety and Health Conference Aug. 6 - 9 at the Orlando World Center Marriott.

Next month, we head to the California Workers' Compensation and Risk Conference Sept. 6-8 at the Monarch Beach Resort in Dana Point, CA.

Let us know if you'll be at either and have some time to meet up with CEO Julian Alexander.

We're also looking forward to attending and speaking at the Self Insurance Institute of America's annual National Educational Conference & Expo, Oct. 8 - 10 at the JW Marriott Desert Ridge Resort & Spa in Phoenix. If you have a chance, stop in to see the session, Medical Services On Demand: A Look at New Delivery Models. Dr. Teresa Bartlett, Senior VP for Medical Quality at Sedgwick, and Michael Coupland, CEO and Network Medical Director of Integrated Medical Case Solutions join Daniel Sanchez, OSP's VP of Operations, as they explore mobile medical services — the benefits, challenges and outcomes.

OSP In the News

We also wanted to share some of the recent great media coverage and blog posts:
